School Vision and Values

Our school's Christian Vision is:

+ We can do everything together, loving and learning through God +

In support of this vision, we believe in the importance of relationships, ensuring children and young people feel valued, safe and secure, providing a sense of connection with a member of staff and a belonging to the whole school community.

Our school's Christian Vision also reflects the values of the Essex Approach to understanding behaviour and supporting emotional wellbeing known as Trauma Perceptive Practice (TPP)

- Compassion and Kindness
- Hope
- Connection and Belonging

We endeavour to make sure that at our school these values run through all the school policies and practice.

School Ethos

It is a core aim of our school that every member of the school community feels valued and respected, and that each person is treated fairly and well. We are a caring community whose values are built on mutual trust and respect for all. This Behaviour and Relationships policy is therefore designed to support the way in which all members of the school can live and work together in a caring way. It aims to promote an environment where everyone feels happy, safe and secure, and able to learn.

We value each individual child/young person and work with families, the community and beyond to offer diverse experiences and support. We develop children and young people to be confident, life-long learners and compassionate, respectful members of their community and the world. We always prioritise the safety of our children and young people and staff. Everything we do in school is underpinned by our safeguarding procedures.

We recognise that children and young people have a 'window of tolerance' within which they feel safe, secure and regulated. When asked to do something outside of this window they can experience stress and react accordingly. Our aim is to help our children and young people to widen their window of tolerance through teaching them about the stress-response in the brain and how they can learn to self-regulate through co-regulation with adults.

A Relational Behaviour Model

At our school we adopt and use the relational behaviour model which is the approach from TPP. The key principles are as follows:

- Behaviour is something to interpret.
- Children and young people are prone to make mistakes and highly responsive to the environment and context.
- Behaviour management is predominantly through relationships.
- Children/young people who don't manage should be understood and included.
- Boundaries and limits are to keep everyone safe and to meet everyone's needs.

- Rule should be developed together and adapted where needed.
- Consequences are only used within a process of restore and repair.
- 'Inappropriate behaviour' is a sign of unmet need, stress (difficulty in coping), lack of understanding and skills.
- The causes of the difficulties are mostly in the environment and within the context of relationships.
- The solutions lie in understanding what the behaviour tells us about the child/young person and their need.
- Practice and policy effectiveness is measured by wellbeing and the capacity to adapt and make reasonable adjustments to meet the needs.

General Expectations

We have high expectations for our children and young people, while recognising some children and young people have specific needs. The following expectations cover all times of the school day and where children and young people are representing the school out of hours or off site. This means we:

- encourage a positive attitude to learning within a safe, happy environment
- promote high expectations and enable children/young people to become independent responsible learners
- encourage a sense of respect for our community and our environment
- believe that clear, consistent routines and systems are essential to support children and young people's development and ensure the health, safety and wellbeing of everyone in our school community.

It is everyone's responsibility to remind and support children and young people where these expectations are not met. Equally it is important to comment positively when they are. Staff model expected behaviours, attitudes and habits.

Any behaviour that falls below the expectations of our school (e.g., disruption to learning, unkind or inconsiderate actions), will require some level of intervention. Remembering that every interaction is an intervention, it is important to remember that the strongest approach to support a child/young person is through their relationship with the adult. At all points we try to ensure we keep a strong connection with the child/young person having difficulties. We use positive recognition, as appropriate, to ensure the children or young people know we are still there, and we recognise their effort and any changes they have made.

At our school, staff ensure good routines are in place for:

- Start and end of day
- Transition times
- Lining up incl. assemblies
- Getting changed for PE
- Moving around the school
- Break and Lunchtimes

What do we do to teach and promote positive management of behaviour?

Classroom management

Teaching and support staff are responsible for setting the tone and context for positive behaviour within the school.

They will:

- Create and maintain a welcoming, positive and understanding environment that encourages pupils to be engaged and happy
- Display the behaviour curriculum or their own classroom rules
- Develop a positive relationship with pupils, which include:
    - Greeting pupils positively in the morning/at the start of lessons
    - Establishing clear routines and boundaries
    - Communicating expectations of behaviour in ways other than verbally
    - Highlighting and promoting good behaviour
    - Concluding the day positively and starting the next day afresh
    - Using positive reinforcement and other proactive strategies
    - Using TPP scripts and strategies to approach and resolve behavioural issues
    - Teaching pupils strategies to better manage their own behaviour or their responses to the behaviour of others
    - Engage pupils with their own emotions, through Zones of Regulation, to help them to better understand their feelings, moods, responses and behaviours at different times to help them to manage their own behaviour more successfully

We believe that all behaviour is communication, and it is our job as adults to understand what that behaviour is telling us. We need to become 'stress detectives' and ascertain both why, and why now? Finding the cause of the behaviour will help us to work alongside the child or young person in order to help them to regulate themselves both in the short term and in the longer term through developing strategies to aid their resilience. This also aligns with Essex's Ordinarily Available Inclusive Teaching Framework, Section B Relationships and Behaviour (refer to pages 8-9 in the Ordinarily Available document for further information).

How we encourage good pupil behaviour

At the beginning of the school year, each class will draw up a set of negotiated, positively phrased class rules (max of 5), which will be discussed, shared and agreed by all class members

Rewards:

Good work, positive choices, appropriate behaviour and achievement and following the class and Golden Rules may be rewarded in a number of ways:

- Praise and recognition from staff-verbal or non-verbal
- Praise and recognition from peers (children nominating others for good work, effort, acts of kindness etc.)
- Written comments in work books
- Class rewards-pasta jars, pom poms etc
- Reward stickers
- House points
- Class and Head Teacher Value badges and certificates
- Recognition in assemblies
- Recognition/ positive feedback to parents
- Being given roles of responsibility such as class librarians, teacher PAs, buddying or being a prefect

These encouragements align with Essex's Ordinarily Available Inclusive Teaching Framework, Section I Motivation, Recognition and Feedback (please refer to the Ordinarily Available document page 26 for further information).

Celebration Worship

Each week the class staff will choose at least one child for a special award, which is an enamelled Value Badge. These are given out in our Celebration Worship every Friday for upholding our Christian Vision and School Values in class. One child will be chosen by the Head Teacher to receive their special Value Badge for outstanding behaviour, attitudes to learning or conduct and for upholding the School's Christian Vision and Values. This child will be given a special head teacher badge and certificate in the weekly Celebration Assembly.

At the end of the year, the staff will choose three children from school for individual awards. These will be for academic or creative achievement and improvement in character. We also present a Silver Cup to children who at the end of each year have shown an outstanding commitment and contribution to upholding one of the Core Values of the school. Their names are then inscribed on the Cups, for public display. The Head Teacher presents these awards at the Awards Ceremony at the end of the summer term.

Viewing behaviour as a learning process

At our school we accept and understand that learning how to regulate our behaviour is a learning process. At times children and young people will push limits, boundaries, and societal norms as part of their normal development. They may also react in different ways to stress, boredom, lack of understanding, over-excitement, and disappointment. Using the relational model, we offer support, help and guidance to the child or young person along with co-regulation so they can develop strategies to regulate themselves and develop resilience for the future. It is our role, as fully developed adults, to help guide children and young people, to make helpful and positive choices when they can by relating to them and helping them to restore and repair as required. We know that this is the best way to respond to our child/young person's behaviour and maintain our relationship with them. The approach we strive for is based on the premise of 'connection before correction'.

Our general response to incidents

Our school believes that all behaviour is communication and in the power of using restorative approaches.

In using this process at our school, we use four questions:
• What happened?
• What were you feeling or thinking at the time?
• Who has been affected?
• What can we do to make things right? (What should happen next?)

At our school the staff work with the child or young person using psychoeducation so that they understand how their brain works and reacts to stress responses. By doing so, we provide them with the opportunity to recognise when they are becoming dysregulated and assist them (using co-regulation) in developing self-regulation strategies for the future. By developing new strategies, this ensures that they have learnt from an incident so that they can be more successful next time. The impact of our approach is evident in the relationships forged throughout the school.

As part of the restore and repair process, they have the chance to show the person that has been affected by their action that they are sorry. This can be in the form of verbal, written, picture, or an action.

Such processes do not shy away from using consequences where logical, appropriate and proportionate. They also focus on the need to take responsibility for finding a constructive way forward for all concerned. This might mean a sincere apology followed by an act of kindness. Such approaches encourage the child or young person in our school to reflect and consider not only the consequences of their actions on themselves, but also the impact of their actions on others. We also support them in developing strategies to help the child or young person to regulate themselves to avoid the situation happening again in the future.

Using logical consequences

Consequences can be a useful response to behaviours, remembering that some behaviours result in positive consequences. When responding to unwanted behaviour, the consequences we use in our school always look at the incident with the knowledge of the stress response (and how the brain reacts), the relational model and with the aim to repair and restore through relationships.

Our school applies consequences using the following principles:

- Adults are clear that it is a consequence
- Consequences are delivered with empathy and understanding of the context
- Consequences are logical and fair
- Consequences are appropriate to the children's level of understanding
- Consequences keep children safe. They can be proactive based on lessons learnt from previous incidents.
- Consequences protect the relationship.

Evidence shows that sanctions alone have limited long-term effects, so it is important for the pupil to see a logical link between their behaviour and the response. Consequences should, wherever possible, have a clear link to the incident and help the pupil to learn how to behave more appropriately should a similar situation occur again, tailoring this to the needs of the individual.

It is helpful to view consequences as protective and/or educational. Best practice suggests that all protective consequences should run alongside educational consequences, as it is unlikely that long-term change will occur without this.

Protective consequences: these are required to protect the rights of others and keep a child or young person safe. At our school this may include:

- co-regulation to help develop self-regulation strategies
- increased staff ratio
- change of school day/timetable
- arrangements for access to outside space
- child escorted in stressful situations
- adapted learning and teaching space

Educational consequences: at our school we use these to teach, encourage, support and motivate the child or young person to behave differently next time though better understanding. These should always be logical, appropriate and proportionate. Examples include:

- ensuring the child or young person completes the task they have disrupted
- rehearsing/modelling situations through intentional teaching of prosocial behaviour
- ensure the child or young person assists with repairs where they have caused damage (when possible and practical)
- intentionally provide educational opportunities for the child or young person to learn about the impact of certain actions and behaviours
- providing the child or young person with an opportunity to 'put things right' through a process of reflecting, repairing and restoring relationships

Behaviour (Examples)	Possible Outcomes/ Consequences (Examples)
Low level disruption	Non- verbal/verbal reminder-highlight positive role models Time to re-focus (eg brain breaks/movement breaks)
Missed learning	Catch up in their own time
Upset someone else	Engage in a restorative conversation
Demonstrates difficulty in applying skills required for the task	Providing support or interventions to develop the skills needed
Damage to property	Assist with repairing the damage and clean up Engage in restorative conversation
Frequent difficulty following rules and boundaries Attitude towards others below expectations	Access temporarily limited or supervised Conversation with parents
Relatively higher impact examples: - Bullying - Harmful behaviour - Any discriminatory behaviour - Intentional physical violence towards others - Swearing at members of staff	Examples: - SLT notified - Incident recorded - Parents notified by telephone by SLT member - Temporary change to learning environment - Suspension whilst adult make reasonable adjustments.

Use of suspension as a consequence

Our school still applies the protective and educational approach to consequences even if the outcome is suspension: protective as a suspension insists on a short-term change in routine and becomes educational when the provision is more personalised to meet the child/young person's needs.

Appropriate use of suspension is to allow the adults time to make the necessary adjustments to meet the needs of the child/young person going forward. This includes:

- reflecting, identifying needs and amending plans
- using the time to prepare psychoeducation or other appropriate interventions to support
- using co-regulation to develop self-regulation strategies.

We understand that whilst a suspension might mark a break from the challenge for school staff, this is often not the case for the child/young person. Reflection and restoration are still essential to enable to pupil and staff to learn from the situation, to not carry unresolved shame with them, and to remain hopeful for the future.

To achieve this, suspensions are issued with kindness and compassion. At our school we will always explain why the suspension is happening, separate the child from their behaviours and ensure they have a safe adult who provides unconditional positive regard. We also provide hope for their return by planning for their reintegration and providing opportunities for them to share their views.

We refer to the Education Access Team's Suspension Guidance.

Use of exclusion as a consequence

Our school considers the following principles/questions when considering exclusion:

- Is it absolutely necessary to exclude?
- Is it in the best interest of the child/young person?
- Is it in the best interest of the school community?

We also understand that the child/young person will likely remain within the local community. To sustain hope for the child/young person, exclusion is presented as a means of accessing an alternative safe space rather than a threat or punishment.

On the rare occasion that exclusion occurs, our school ensures:

- Positive goodbye with closure for staff, child and their family
- A robust handover between school staff to support the transition to the new school/setting
- Ensuring the child takes all their work with them to share with their new teachers, demonstrating their achievements and what they are proud of
- Restoration opportunities in the new school/setting, repairing the child's relationship with education
- Encouragement to build new positive relationships to ensure a sense of belonging.

There are 15 DfE exclusion codes that can be used to record why a child/young person is excluded:

PP – Physical Assault against a pupil orientation and gender identity	PA – Physical Assault against an adult	VP – Verbal abuse/ threatening behaviour against a pupil
VA – Verbal abuse/ threatening behaviour against an adult	OW – Use or threat of use of an offensive weapon or prohibited item	BU – Bullying
RA – Racist abuse	LG – Abuse against sexual	DS – Abuse relating to disability
SM – Sexual misconduct	DA – Drug and alcohol related	DM – Damage
TH – Theft	MT – Inappropriate use of social media or online technology	DB – Persistent or general disruptive behaviour

As our school seeks to understand behaviour, we do not exclude for 'Persistent Disruptive Behaviour' as there are 14 alternative which provide a far more meaningful description of behaviours.

We refer to the Education Access Team's Exclusion Guidance.

Harm from dysregulated (stress) behaviour

Our school always prioritises the safety and welfare of all staff and children/young people, recognising that everyone is entitled to a safe and supportive environment. Any incident (verbal or physical) which compromises safety can be perceived as harmful. Our staff understand through training that this behaviour is not necessarily deliberate, rather it is often due to a stress response.

Supporting those who have been harmed

Our staff and children and young people receive the individual support they need in response to any incident where the behaviour has compromised the wellbeing of someone else, causing harm. Occasionally there may be times, despite all reasonably practicable measures being taken, when prevention is unsuccessful, and someone is harmed. At these times our school ensures that this person (adult or child) is fully supported.

We always consider the following:

- are they physically safe and protected?
- do they need immediate first aid & medical treatment?
- is there a need for immediate police involvement?
- ensure they have the opportunity to talk about the incident either with a trusted person or other independent service
- give reassurance to reduce feelings of guilt and/or anxiety

Risk Assessment Process

In our school we use a risk assessment process as the starting point for preventing harm for identified vulnerable children and young people. It identifies what is likely to cause stress to them, using all the information known about them. Once all this information is collated, a strategy for supporting a situation appropriately and keeping everyone safe can be developed. An example of information to be included in the risk assessment can be found in Appendix 5.

Physical intervention (control and restraint) - the use of reasonable force

At our school we make sure we are aware of our duties of care and follow the law. The law states that it is permissible to use reasonable force to prevent children and young people committing an offence, injuring themselves or others, or damaging property, and to maintain good order and discipline in the classroom. The latest guidance from the DfE can be found here: DfE Behaviour in Schools February 2024

The use of physical intervention techniques is only one aspect of co-regulation and is usually the last resort when it is deemed absolutely necessary. It may resolve a short-term situation, but the long-term aim must be to help the child or young person to be able to self-regulate during times of stress.

If such actions are necessary, the actions that we take aim to use the minimum amount of force necessary for the minimum amount of time necessary. Where physical intervention is needed, this is recorded and reported immediately to the head teacher in line with the school's Use of Reasonable Force Policy.

Our school follows the Essex Guidance 'Understanding and Supporting Behaviour - Safe Practice for Schools and Educational Settings (Including the use of restrictive / non-restrictive physical intervention)'
It can be found here: Understanding and Supporting Behaviour - Safe Practice for Schools - August 2023.pdf (essex.gov.uk)
Within this guidance, it is regarded as best practice to record every incident where the use of restraint has been deemed absolutely necessary and to follow the other recommendations set out in this document. This includes reporting to ECC via MySafety.

The MySafety system is used to record all accidents, violence, work related Ill Health and near misses.

Click here to log an incident (please use the Access Token: ABC123)

Where it has been deemed necessary to use a restrictive physical intervention, the detail of this should be accurately recorded and the incident communicated to parents. Parents should be informed of the incident initially by phone and it should then be followed up in writing.

Screening and searching children and young people

At our school we are all aware that there are legal provisions which enable school staff to confiscate items from children and young people:

DfE Advice for Schools July 2022 - Searching, Screening and Confiscation (publishing.service.gov.uk)

From this guidance our staff understand that they may confiscate items that are of high value, deemed inappropriate and are against the school policies or are causing concern. Where a specific policy about the item does not exist, the teacher should use their discretion about whether the item is returned to the child/young person or to their parent/guardian. Items returned to them should usually be returned no later than the end of that school day. If the item needs collecting by a parent/guardian, the teacher should ensure that the parent/guardian is made aware that an item has been confiscated – either through the child/young person or via text/phone call. Where the item is of high value or deemed inappropriate, contact should be made directly with the parent/guardian.

Staff do have the power to search without consent for "prohibited items" including:

- knives and weapons
- alcohol
- illegal drugs
- stolen items
- tobacco and cigarette papers
- fireworks
- pornographic images
- any article that has been or is likely to be used to commit an offence, cause personal injury or damage to property; and any item banned by the school rules which has been identified in the rules as an item which may be searched for.

How we support children and young people with additional Social, Emotional and Mental Health needs

At our school, we acknowledge that some children and young people will have, at times, additional needs. We recognise that children and young people may experience a range of social, emotional, mental health needs which present themselves in many ways. These may include children and young people displaying challenging, disruptive or stress-related behaviours. These behaviours may also reflect underlying social interaction difficulties, sensory or medical needs or clinically diagnosed needs such as attention deficit disorder, attention deficit hyperactive disorder, foetal alcohol disorder or attachment difficulties.

We will always endeavour to understand behaviour, support emotional wellbeing and make reasonable adjustments to our provision to support progress and engagement using a variety of strategies developed with key adults within the child's life (staff, family, professionals) in order to best meet their needs. In Essex, this is done in the context of One Planning. We also recognise the needs of children and young people with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) and follow the policies and procedures associated with supporting these children and young people, including but not limited to, the SEND code of practice, Equal Opportunities and Disability Act.

Recognising that 'flexible consistency' allows for personalisation and reasonable adjustments, staff in our school are trusted to apply this policy with discretion through their knowledge of the child/young person's context. This includes integration between policies which enables staff to seek the views of internal school leads for SEND, Mental Health, Pastoral Support and Safeguarding to ensure that use of all the policies enable a fair and informed decision.

We understand that the communicating behaviour(s) most likely comes from a place of stress which may come from anxiety, fear or as a result of a barrier to learning. We have a duty to strive to help children and young people to return to a place of regulation, within their 'Window of Tolerance', as only then will the child or young person be in a place to learn, connect and thrive.
For learners with additional SEMH needs, we refer to Essex's Ordinarily Available Targeted Support Guidance for bespoke support and possible interventions to support and understand communication through behaviour. Please refer to pages 3-23 for further information. This includes suggestions and reasonable adjustments for medically diagnosed neurodiverse conditions such as attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), Tourette's syndrome, oppositional defiance disorder (ODD) and selective mutism, as well as attachment disorders and social anxiety.

Ways to Support Understanding

At our school we believe that understanding what the behaviour is communicating to us is the first part for planning a response.

Our Principles - the things we will do as adults

All staff

- Seek to understand the communication behind the behaviour
- Keep the relationship at the forefront when seeking to restore and repair (connection before correction)
- Model compassion and kindness, provide hope and support, connection and belonging
- Understand that any event in a child or young person's life can impact on how they think, feel and act
- Use of logical consequences rather than just simply punishments or sanctions
- Provide routines, set limits and have clear boundaries
- Regulate our own emotions
- Co-regulate with young people and help them to develop self-regulation strategies for the future.

Head Teacher

- Leads on all aspects of this policy and model the expectations for all staff
- Ensures that all staff receive regular purposeful training to support relationships and minimise risk
- Ensures that all staff are provided with clear instructions for reporting incidents of harm and that all such reports are thoroughly investigated and responded to
- Ensures that risk assessments are carried out when required and that appropriate measures are implemented
- Is the only person authorised to suspend or exclude a child or young person (or the Deputy Headteacher in their absence)

Other Senior Leaders

- Lead on all aspects of this policy and model the expectations for all staff
- Ensure the policy is implemented effectively
- Ensure all staff are appropriately trained
- Oversee the specific needs of all children and young people across the school
- Provide support to staff, children/young people and parents/carers as necessary
- Link with outside agencies to access additional services
- Ensure that all tracking and reporting of incidents and additional needs are up to date

Classroom Staff

- Plan the teaching and learning for all children and young people
- Include parents/carers in personalised planning for their child
- Communicate regularly with parents/carers about their child's needs
- Provide specific support for children and young people experiencing any difficulties, whether this is an ongoing need or a short term difficult a child or young person may be having.

Family

- Inform the school of any concerns about changes in their child/young person's behaviour, emotional wellbeing or mental health
- Have open conversations with the school
- Engage with support offered by the school and other agencies to further support their child/young person's needs

Governors

- Ensure that appropriate policies are in place, that they are regularly reviewed, and their effectiveness monitored
- Undertake their statutory role around suspension and exclusion
- Ensure that all staff receive purposeful training in order that they can undertake their role

To be prepared to work with the school to support their child's positive behaviour. • To attend meetings with the head teacher or other school staff, if requested, to discuss their child's behaviour. • To adhere to the terms of any Parenting Contract or Order relating to their child's behaviour. • If their child is excluded from the school, to ensure the child is not found in a public place during school hours in the first five days of exclusion and, if invited, to attend a reintegration interview with the school at the end of a fixed period exclusion.

Appendix 1 - A Tool for Understanding and Reframing Behaviour

Describe the behaviour Review and be curious	Reframe the Behaviour from for example: "He's just lazy" or "She just wants to get attention" to something more helpful. Examples of reframing-	Reflections How is this behaviour understandable? What's getting in their way/what are the barriers? How can we help?	Adult response What do we need to intentionally teach? Find the barriers and remove them
Be the stress detective - why and why now? What is the typical adult response? • Is there an adult response plan? • Is the plan helpful, shared, used and understood? • Is there a personalised stress/distress management plan? Consider the environment Is there adequate differentiation for learning and sensory needs and personal strengths How are rules shared, talked about and explained?	Avoidant: in 'fight/flight' survival mode Defiant: in 'fight/flight' survival mode, coping with threat Aggressive(controlling): outside window of tolerance. Dysregulated in the hyperarousal state as a result of becoming distressed. Now in 'fight' survival mode, adaptive strategy to manage underlying vulnerability e.g. fears, anxieties, helplessness, confusion, shame, or feeling frightened Attention seeking: attachment/connection needing: they need time and attention for something in that moment (they do not feel safe and secure yet and trying to gain a sense of belonging) Withdrawn: cautious possible indicator of an emerging 'flight/hypoarousal and or freeze' response being used to cope with the situation Rude: self-protective: "I need you to know how I feel so I'm going to make you feel like it too so you will help me", or "I don't think you like me/don't care". In fight mode. Not engaging: doesn't feel safe yet. possible indicator of an emerging dysregulation response being used to cope with the situation.	The impact of trauma For example-How have any adverse experiences affected their ability to trust, share attention? (confirmed or assumed) Feelings fuelling the behaviour Is the child/young person projecting their feelings onto you? Are you inadvertently re-enacting previous relationships? Are you too distressed by the behaviour to co-regulate? Attachment history- what is their survival strategy? How have earlier experiences shaped the child/young person's preference for connecting with others? How is this being challenged/affirmed? Social development Can they play with or are they better alongside? Can they share and negotiate? Do they show empathy?	Structure and Predictability Visual routines, preparation for transitions, opportunities for sensory input and relaxation Adapt the learning Small steps, time limited, clear and realistic expectations, choice and use the child/ young persons's strengths Rhythmic/repetitive intervention/support. Relationships with the staff Compassionate and kindness in the greetings, verbal language and body language; genuine empathy for tough times, exploration of feelings, use of regulate/relate/reason. Use PACE. Relationships with peers Role playing and social stories, mentors, clear roles in any group activity, reduce competition, increase play and fun.

Appendix 4: Environmental Checklists for children/young people with additional Social Emotional and Mental Health (SEMH) needs

Consider the needs of a specific child/young person before exploring the school environment with them in mind.

The questions are designed to be prompts to inform One Planning.

The individual checklists complement each other, but separate different school environments in order to consider a child's presentation in different contexts thus drawing attention to differences and similarities. Some questions are therefore repeated.

Appendix 5: Risk Assessment Guidance

Key Questions for the Risk Assessment

1. Assess the risk and reducing the potential for harm

Adopting precautionary and preventative steps which help to avoid, prevent, minimise or mitigate incidents where staff can be harmed. Maintaining a sense of proportion in relation to the assessed risk. Best practice will be to involve parents/carers and the child or young person in this risk assessment process.

Possible questions to inform the risk assessment

- What harm could occur and how severe could this be? How likely is this harm?
- What information is provided for staff, how is it communicated?
- Is the right level of training provided to relevant staff?
- Are there changes needed to the way people carry out their duties or where they work?
- Has there been sufficient accounting of the site layout and the knowledge of the immediate working environment?
- Incident recording and response to incidents.
- How is any information, reports, involvement with other agencies such as the police and Children's Social Care shared?

The assessment will include:

- Identified vulnerable child/young person (those that are most likely to become dysregulated when, where including activities and areas).
- Existing preventative measures and evaluation of the other potential risks.
- Additional preventative and control measures identified, including timescales.
- Communication procedures and review arrangements.

2. Write an action plan

Any actions should be written monitored by Head Teacher/Senior Management and Governors to ensure that all items identified have sufficient resources allocated and have been addressed. The plan should be fit for purpose and tailored to managing the specific risk presented by identified child/young person or groups of children and young people. The plan should include the following:

- Action required,
- Action by whom
- Risk priority
- Projected timescales
- Date completed

3. Monitor, Review and update the assessment

Any risk assessment should be regularly reviewed and updated. It also should be visited again following a significant incident to reflect on any learning or additional protective measures.
